Ir all politicians were as ready to betray confidence as Mr. Parnell has shown himself to be in the Gladstone affair, what would become of party polities and public legislation? It is no secret that such conferences are frequently held by men as far apart in politics as the implied basis of confidence absolute

The writer has seen a man enter an express office and ask to have a ten-callon keg brought down from Boston that day. Being told that it was too late and insisting that he must have it, the matter was arranged by the customer taking a package brought for John Jones, who had not called for it and who, it was taken for granted, would be willing to exchange with the customer who was in a hurry for his wet goods.

Democratic Opposition to Fair Elections, Senator Turple is not the first Democrat to defend the election policy of his party in the South by pointing to the fact that in the North the offices are not overrun by negroes. This is supposed to be an argument, and the Democratic notion is that it settles the question in favor of the Southern method. In the North are a few white men who have not office.

MILLERS OF THE OHIO VALLEY. ome Apt Suggestions Concerning the Manner of Keeping Home Trades.

The millers of the Ohio Valley com plain that by advertising the foreign mil lers take the "home market." This is to say the foreign millers make it appear to the consumers of flour that their pro duct is better than the product of the home millers. This simply shows the home millers. This simply shows the advantage of advertising, and our advice to home millers is, employ this "trick" of the foreign miller, and make it appear that there is no good flour sold outside of the Ohio Valley. The home millers also complain that the consumer uses also complain that the consumer uses foreign flour to the detriment of the mar-ket for the home product under the false impression that it is a better article than the home made flour, and they do not believe this is fair to local industries, in which there are large investments of capital and employment of labor. As to this, we want to say that human nature is a goot bit alike whatever it is found, For instance the local millers use engraved stationary under the false imprea-sion that it is better than home printing to the detriment of the printing indus-try in the Ohio Valley, in which large capital is invested and labor employed. The glass house proverb is always com-ing up in one's mind, isn't it?

Class Legislation for Farmers.

England is to bear up under this strain on her resources of meal is another matter.

With wait until the Indians begin to butcher? Why not hustle the hostiles back on their reservations, at the point of the bayonet if necessary, and give them all to understand that the Government does not intend to let the war begin. Also it would be well for the Government to commence at once to keep to the letter its agreements with the Indians.

The talk about class legislation is mostly moonshine, but notody else has been so eager in trying to organize a class and have laws pag for its benefit as the members of the this method of nominating prove to have been a mistake, the fault will not be the committee's.

The desire of candidates would not be a sufficient reason for a change in the programme. Candidates have no special rights in the premises. It is the desire of the party that should control.
